morning. Small pass - strong color [no odor] right eye still dilated, left almost normal [It seems to be difficult to function the muscles necessary to urinate - could there be a little paralysis?]

6:05 teeth still disturbingly rubby. I'm going to load up on coffee.

7:15 (2:30 real time) passed another 50 cc urine - color O.K. all will be O.K. - write all this up now [which I just did, at this time].

time 3:00PM (7:45 of experiment)

at 8hrs - urinate again - but muscles still don't seem to be right - also still some tremor in hand - tingle in legs. apparently really have some AchE shock.

eye dilation gone at 8:00PM (13 hrs) and urination apparatus worked normally. slept well – AM. excellent spirits.
